

ADAM RUECHEL

Village of Marshall, Wisconsin

Adam writes, “Every day I wake up with the opportunity to see how greatness truly is growing in the Village of Marshall. From our continued residential expansion to our business-focused economic development, I am proud to call the Village home. As Village Administrator/Treasurer, I pride myself on having professionalism, independent judgment, and the overall ability to work with all levels of government.”

Born in Green Bay, Wisconsin, Adam received Bachelor’s degrees in political science, public administration, and accounting. In May he will complete his second year as Village Administrator for the Village of Marshall, Wisconsin. Prior to taking that position, Adam spent 1.5 years as assistant to the Village Administrator of the Village of Hobart, Wisconsin. His private sector experience includes having worked as a financial analyst for IOD Incorporated and for Humana Insurance Company.
